

When Parents Worry: The Real Calls Doctors Receive...from Moles That Seem to Move to Funny-Smelling Poo

A bird pooped in my daughters mouth yesterday. Do we need to worry about anything? Sure, kids may say and do the darndest things, but concerned parents definitely take it to a whole other level. While these moms and dads certainly mean well, its hard for anyone (even a pediatrician) not to dissolve into laughter when they hear weird and unexpected questions like: Betty ate cheese from a mousetrap from which the mouse also ate. Is that anything to worry about? Should my eight-year-old wear boxers or briefs? I dropped off my sons urine sample in a Tupperware container. Can you please give it back when youre done? From concerns about pickle-shaped poos to the risks of sitting on Santas lap, Dr. Henry Anderson, a pediatrician in private practice, has heard it all and now you can, too.

Located on a 160 x 25 site near the south entrance of Newburyports Clipper City Rail Trail, the Alchemical Garden is a richly layered evolving art and horticulture experience that is accessible on many different levels to the public. Alchemical Garden Plot plan Alchemical Garden is designed to become a model for a sustainable, interactive public garden through the use of symbiotic, low maintenance plantings and recycled materials. The ancient discipline of Alchemy marries art and science and is famously known for transforming a common material into gold. The Alchemical Garden will lead the community to transform on a number of levels : Alchemical Garden with Spring Wheat "Crop Circles" June, 2011 BUILD COMMUNITY: The Garden creates a gathering space for individuals to form a more intimate relationship with their community. The space is designed with visual features and seating areas to compel passers-by to pause, reflect, and have a multi-sensory interactive experience (sight, smell, touch, taste, smell) with the garden and the community.
