

Galas 12: An Interdimensional Journey

From California to Colorado and Peru, from there and then to here and now, we are taken on an incredible odyssey of wonder and self-discovery. The two stories that overlap in Galas 12: An Interdimensional Journey by Bob Gunno reflect the dual nature of reality and must be interpreted by the reader depending on their own experiences, beliefs, imagination, and level of awareness. Galas 12 is an interactive story. That is, the main characters interact with you, the reader, and you become at least indirectly involved. The title, Galas 12, refers to twelve proposals put forth from another dimension as an effort to reveal more of what's really going on in our universe. The narrative is not as straightforward as it may initially appear. Worlds and realities intermix, questions are raised, and answers sought. And yet Galas 12 is most definitely an incredible story in its own right. From the authors perspective, this is indeed a true story. Whatever your assessment of this book is, or becomes, the Twelve Propositions, around which it all revolves are an essential guideline for both surviving and evolving in this new millennium.
